

Compromise, Debates, Promises and Lies, part 2

More of the same? Business as usual? It can't go on forever, so says David M. Walker. Who? Who in the world is David M. Walker? You will be hearing a lot more from him in the future. He is just one quiet voice crying out in the economic wilderness.

February 2010

Many thanks to all of you for the many responses we received for last month's newsletter. In case you missed that letter, I focused on the fact that we are being fed a steady stream of promises, compromise, and lies. Things haven't gotten any better this month; in fact things continue to deteriorate! Following a short breather, (primarily due to the December "part time" employment to fill the needs for the holiday season,) unemployment has begun to rise again.

Of course I don't need to say that to the many millions who are still in the ranks of the unemployed. The true numbers of those not working go far beyond the reported 10 percent of those who are still actively still seeking jobs. The truth is the numbers are closer to 17 to 19 percent. That is nearly one in five people out of work, most with no hope of finding any. I know, old news, I know we've heard it all before, right?

Did you hear about this? In early January, Congress agreed to increase the debt limit of the U.S. by nearly two Trillion dollars. Now just weeks later we are being told, they didn't take into account the new programs kicking in by this administration that are now running up the debt quicker than they originally thought. Excuse me, does anyone believe that? Sorry, simply more lies and deception. Now the congress must go back and raise the ceiling debt again another two trillion dollars or we can't pay the bills. Did anyone think to ask where are we getting the money to do that? No. Why not, because they simply print more money, sell more bonds and on it goes.

How many know the name David M. Walker? What about what he did for ten years for the U.S.? Interesting that the news doesn't talk about him. Who knows maybe they don't want you to know about him? For ten years, from 1998 to 2008,

Few people know the underbelly of gov't spending better than David Walker who admits "Washington is badly broken."

Mr. Walker served as Comptroller General for the GAO, this is the Governmental Accounting Office.

In a recent interview on the Glenn Beck show, Mr. Walker stated that we are on a collision course with disaster. When asked what time frame are we looking at, his answer; possibly as little as five years.

Most people don't realize that Mr. Walker's position as former Comptroller General for the GAO is not a political position, even though it is a politically appointed position. It is in fact a corporate position. He has served in that position for ten years, under both the Republican and the Democratic administrations. It was his job to keep the government (Congress) informed as to the "financial" state of the economy, as well as coming up with the figures that proposed programs and projects would cost.

We'll be going into greater detail in the future about some of the specifics as to the danger of the times in which we live. Even if America isn't listening, the rest of the world is! Across the waters, the rest of the world has already begun to position themselves for a United States collapse. They know that it is only a matter of time. They were caught in the downdraft of the recent economic earthquake. In fact their own greed had many of those nations in bed with the Wall Street world of greed and deception, and paid a high price for it. That condition is rapidly changing. We are now moving into a time where the next collapse will not bring them down with us. We are moving closer to the prophetic scenario where the Bible refers to them as bought lovers who will not come to our aid.

We'll be covering most of this in future editions of the Newsletter Quarterly, as well as sermons and particularly in our new program God's Unchanging Word.

Few people know the underbelly of government spending better than David Walker, who served as the head of the Government Accountability Office for ten years

GOD'S UNCHANGING WORD "COMING SOON"

At the Feast of Tabernacles we introduced a new Internet TV program we have named "God's Unchanging Word." Our goal was to have it up and running by January. We were a bit optimistic; it's coming, but slightly slower than anticipated. The delay is allowing us needed time to revamp the design and hopefully the caliber of the program.

We recently met with the local religious TV station WHNO to show the program, and get some feedback and suggestions. We were surprised and delighted with the reaction! They felt they could air it the way it was, and would compare it better than much of the programming being sent to them right now.

We were able to sit down to discuss many of the specifics of who we are, and what we hope to accomplish. We explained that our goal is to produce a program as professional as we could. The program director was very complimentary and felt we were almost TV ready, while at the same time he recommended some very important changes that will enhance the overall appearance and save us hours of post editing. This gentleman has many years of experience as an independent film director, producer, and creator of numerous programs as well as doing much of the video editing for WHNO's programs. God has blessed us to find favor with the staff at this TV station. They have volunteered to give us their time and help "Freely" to help develop God's Unchanging Word.

This past week my brother and I had the opportunity to spend two hours with the WHNO program director one on one learning some of the tips, tricks, and new software for our program. He also volunteered to come over to our church when we are ready with our new studio set we are creating, to help with lighting, set up, and anything else they can help with. All of this free to us!

The bottom line, they said they did not have a program of this type and felt it could possibly increase their viewers if and when we are ready to promote it, and they are investing their time and resources to help us create it. Please pray that this all comes about. It appears that God has given us an open door, pray that God will grant us the wherewithal to go through it. We'll have more on this in next's month Newsletter Quarterly.

MINISTER'S CONFERENCE

On the week end of Jan 15 - 17 the ministry was able to meet in New Orleans for their annual conference to review the previous year, and make plans for the upcoming year. I've been blessed to attend ministerial meetings all the way back to 1988 when I attended my first meeting as a guest of the ministry. I can honestly tell you, that although most of those past meetings were encouraging, none contained more unity, encouragement, and hope for the future than this past conference for our church.

We were able to spend many hours around the table discussing a variety of topics, including how we now have the opportunity to help grow the local churches. There is way too much material to share in this letter at this time. But, we believe you will be excited next month when you receive the Newsletter Quarterly. With God's help, things are coming together for the work.

EARTHQUAKE IN HAITI

We have just witnessed one of the worst quakes in modern times. They are now predicting that possibly as many as 200,000 people may have died in the recent quake in Haiti. Additionally, there are nearly half a million people who are now homeless.

After what we witnessed here in New Orleans following the hurricane Katrina disaster, it will be like child's play compared to what they will have to go through there. They need all of our prayers through what will be one of the most difficult assistance programs in modern times.

Earthquakes continue to be on the rise. Are we approaching the time predicted in the Bible just before the return of Jesus Christ? Time will tell.

In Jesus name,

Tom Kerry
